

Press Release – May 23, 2016

Subject: The Platform of the Associations of Nature and Forestry – PLANFOR)

Climate change, land degradation, loss of biodiversity and other problems affect the people and the globe as a whole. Combating to these global challenges needs to global efforts not only for the governments and state agencies but also for non- governmental organizations, individuals and private sector.

There are several intergovernmental organizations and international agreements for dealing with global problems but the collaboration and cooperation with NGO and private sector and the related initiatives seem insufficient.

For this aim, the NGOs from different countries stated below come together and agreed to sign this “COLLABORATION PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENT” to do something jointly for the benefit of the people and the globe we want. “Transforming our world: the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development” is considered to be one of the main basis document of this partnership. This partnership is open to all parties willing to join and sharing the same believes and approaches defined at the text and the related UN regulations and principles.

With this agreement parties also agreed to constitute “THE PLATFORM OF THE ASSOCIATIONS OF NATURE AND FORESTRY (PLANFOR). PLANFOR will act as the executive body of this partnership. PLANFOR is being generated with the participation of civil society organizations from different countries.

The preparation and implementation of joint projects about nature conservation, agriculture, beekeeping, disaster management, water management, forestry, land management, climate change, youth and children’s education and also acting together on various issues are aimed with establishment of PLANFOR.

The Foundation of the People Caring for the Future (CARFU) is following this process and NGO’s from Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Turkey that are below stated have decided to join the Platform as a founder.
